

LLM in Maritime Law in Greece, Piraeus
CALL FOR APPLICATIONS – INTAKE MARCH 2017

The LLM in Maritime Law in Greece is a Masters programme that enables you to develop a full understanding of maritime law through in-depth scholarship, extensive practitioner contact and real world insights. The course is taught at the Lloyd's Register in Greece, a worldwide respected shipping institution situated in Piraeus, the heart of the Greek shipping community. The lectures are delivered by high profile academics who are predominantly from the UK and many of these have significant practical experience of the industry. There are strong links between this course and the shipping industry. Our lecturers are the following:

- Prof. Rob Merkin QC
- Prof. Jason Chuah
- Prof. Chris Ryan
- David Glass
- Anthony Rogers
- Anna Katsoulaki

In order to gain success in this degree you must achieve a high level of academic attainment but you will also gain insight into the operation of the shipping business and international trade.

The course can be completed on a full-time or part-time basis over:

- a 12-months full-time program, with lectures taking place every two weeks on Friday 6-9pm and Saturday 11-4pm;
- a 24-months part-time program, designed to meet the needs of business executives, with lectures taking place every two weeks on Friday 6-9pm and Saturday 11-4pm but having the possibility to skip one or more modules in year one and attend in year two.

The aims of the LLM programme are:

- to equip you with a sophisticated knowledge of certain key areas of law;
- to enhance your professional and specialist legal skills;
- to provide an opportunity for critical reflection on aspects of the law and/or on legal practice;
- to aid you to make an informed choice about the desirability of pursuing doctoral research;
- to provide you with the opportunity to demonstrate self-reliance and innovative thought through the submission of a substantial 20,000 words dissertation to provide an interdisciplinary approach.

Places available are limited and applications are evaluated with priority order.

Please do not hesitate to book an appointment with our Course Administrator in Greece and meet her in our offices in Hellenic Lloyd's Register premises.
